

NORTHERN COUNCIL FOR GLOBAL COOPERATION: CODE OF ETHICS

Code of Ethics

As a member of the Canadian Council for International Cooperation (CCIC), NCGC complies with and promotes a national Code of Ethics and Operational Standards. Last revised in 2009, the CCIC Code of Ethics outlines a set of operational standards, which includes a compliance procedure and guides practices.

Exert: GENERAL PRINCIPLES

Human Rights – In all of their activities, CCIC and its Member Organizations should respect and promote the human rights and dignity of all people.

Accountability – CCIC and its Member Organizations should be accountable to their international partners, to their staff, to their donors, to the Canadian public and to each other for their contributions to international development and their stewardship of resources. C

Transparency – CCIC and its Member Organizations should communicate freely and accurately with their partners, donors, the public and each other.

Fairness – CCIC and its Member Organizations should practise and promote equity and justice in all their activities.

Co-operation – CCIC and its Member Organizations should cooperate with each other in order to promote Canadian involvement in international development.

Sustainability – In all of their activities, CCIC and its Member Organizations should take appropriate measures to promote environmental sustainability.